

Hong Kong Natural History Society
Report on December 2012 Outing to Shek O Country Park

It was a fine day for hiking after some wet and humid weather all through the week. 15 members set off from Tai Long Wan village and started their ascent towards Pottinger Hill. We took a break at a pavilion near Ma Tong Au and carried on with the trail near Collinson Hill. We then turned off to make an ascent to Dragon's Back. At this ridge, we enjoyed some great views overlooking Tai Long and Shek O beaches. We could also see some grand views of Tai Tam Bay on the other side. However, the usual para-gliding spot was a bit quiet today, although the hiking trail was extremely busy!

We then made our descent to the bus-stop near To Tei Wan. After a 5-minute bus ride, we arrived at Chinese-Thai Restaurant at about two o'clock. We had an early Christmas dinner enjoyed by all with some of us in Santa hats, of course!

Chan Ping Chung